Report highlights

- 1 In the September quarter 2026, Sydney drivers paid an average of 198.2 c/L for U91, which was up 20.7 c/L on the June quarter 2026.
- 2 North Richmond offered the best value in Sydney – Outer West and Blue Mountains for U91 in the September quarter 2026 at 199.0 c/L, sitting 0.8 c/L above Sydney.
- 3 Newcastle recorded a U91 average of 199.5 c/L in the September quarter 2026, 1.3 c/L above Sydney, and has been cheaper than Sydney in 1 of 6 months since our records began on 13 April 2026.
- 4 The day of the week made little difference to U91 prices in Sydney in the September quarter 2026, as the cheapest and dearest days were just 0.9 c/L apart on average.
- 5 Sunday was the cheapest day to buy U91 in Blue Mountains in the September quarter 2026 and Tuesday was the dearest, sitting 2.6 c/L apart on average to save you $1.56 on a 60-litre tank.
- 6 If you filled a 60-litre tank with U91 in Appin rather than in Baradine, you saved $22.44 on average in the September quarter 2026.
- 7 Independent service stations across New South Wales averaged 4.0 c/L less than the major brands for U91 in the September quarter 2026, and they were 7.8 c/L cheaper in Sydney.
- 8 Drivers found that diesel cost 38.8 c/L more than U91 in Sydney in the September quarter 2026, which was down from a 46.3 c/L gap in the June quarter 2026.

Every fuel

Sydney drivers saw the U91 average rise 20.7 c/L to 198.2 c/L in the September quarter 2026, driven by higher terminal gate prices and fuel excise increases. The capital's diesel average also climbed, up 13.2 c/L to 237.0 c/L. Across the state, E10 averaged 198.0 c/L, P95 averaged 218.0 c/L, P98 averaged 225.9 c/L and LPG averaged 118.1 c/L.

Cents a litre. Change is on the June quarter 2026, which covers the days from 13 April, when our full price history starts. Difference is the rest against Sydney.

Drivers in Sydney paid an average of 198.2 c/L for U91, while the rest of New South Wales averaged 203.7 c/L. This means those outside the capital paid 5.5 c/L more for U91 over the quarter.

What makes up a litre in Sydney

A litre of U91 in Sydney was made up of 86.0 c/L for crude oil, 42.8 c/L for wholesale costs, 47.6 c/L for excise and 18.0 c/L for GST, leaving a retail difference of 3.8 c/L, down from 5.2 c/L in the June quarter 2026. For diesel, the retail difference fell to 4.9 c/L from 13.8 c/L in the previous period, with crude oil at 86.0 c/L, wholesale at 77.0 c/L, excise at 47.6 c/L and GST at 21.5 c/L.

Premium 95 has no terminal gate price of its own. We use the unleaded price, so the premium grade’s extra wholesale cost sits in its retail difference, and we give no margin for it.

Retail: FuelRadar station-day averages for Sydney; our retail records begin on 13 April 2026, so a period before then has the wholesale side only. Last year’s average is the previous calendar year. Until we have a full calendar year of retail prices it shows the wholesale side only: the terminal gate price, crude oil and excise. Its GST, retail difference and margin need a retail price, so they are left out. Terminal gate price: AIP, Sydney terminal, carried over weekends. Crude oil is the US Energy Information Administration Brent spot price (FRED series DCOILBRENTU), converted to Australian cents a litre at each day’s exchange rate (FRED series DEXUSAL) and 158.987 litres a barrel, then averaged over the days both are published. Excise: ATO, averaged over the period’s days. Wholesale is the terminal gate price without GST and excise, less crude oil. GST is one eleventh of the retail price. The retail difference is what is left: the retailer’s costs and margin, without its GST. Bands are rounded so they add up to the retail price.

Month by month

Sydney's U91 average moved from 173.1 c/L in July 2026 to 200.0 c/L in August 2026 and 222.6 c/L in September 2026, while diesel went from 203.1 c/L to 243.6 c/L and 266.3 c/L across the same months. The capital's U91 average started the quarter at 157.6 c/L on 1 July 2026, peaked at 238.6 c/L on 22 September 2026, and finished at 237.1 c/L on 30 September 2026.

Gross indicative retail margins

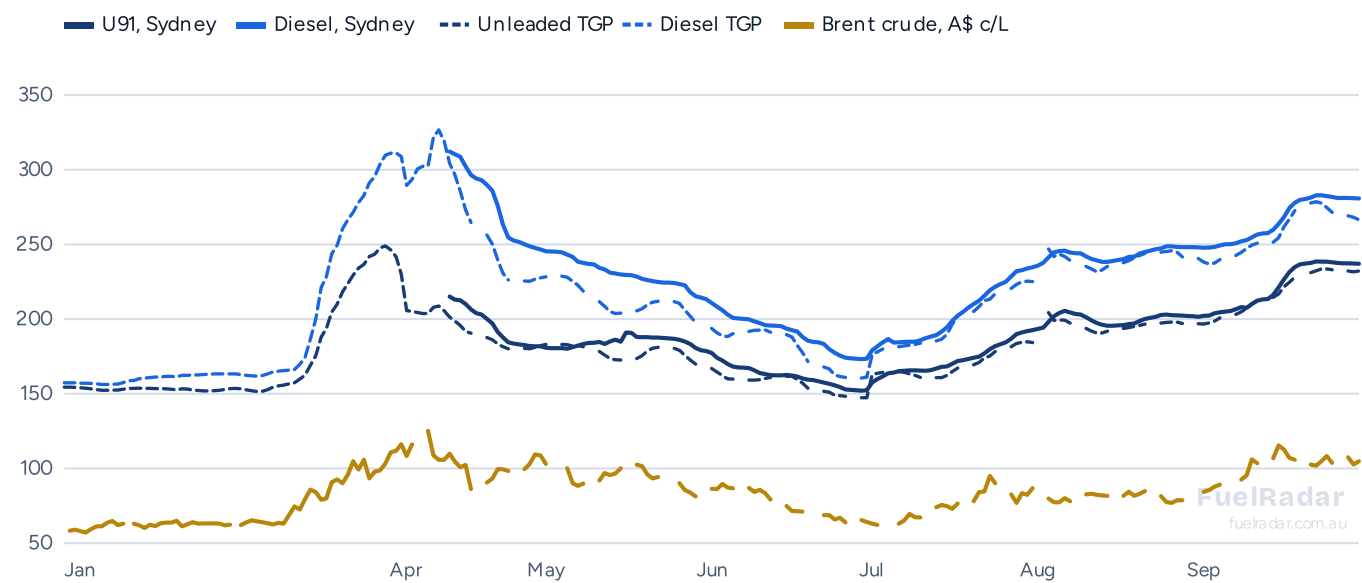

The gross indicative retail margin in Sydney averaged 4.2 c/L for U91, dropping 1.5 c/L on the previous period, and 5.3 c/L for diesel, which fell 9.8 c/L. This indicative margin for U91 was 3.7 c/L in July 2026, 4.7 c/L in August 2026 and 4.4 c/L in September 2026, before the retailer's own costs are paid.

The gross indicative retail margin is the retail average less the terminal gate price, both with GST. It is before the retailer's own costs (rent, wages, freight to the site, card fees), so it is not profit. The terminal gate price is AIP's price at the Sydney terminal. AIP publishes terminal gate prices for the capital-city terminals only, so a regional town is measured against the capital's terminal, and its margin includes the cost of getting fuel there. Weekday prices are carried over weekends and public holidays.

Market trends this year

The terminal gate price in Sydney averaged 194.0 c/L for U91 and 231.7 c/L for diesel. Brent crude oil averaged 86.0 Australian cents a litre, with an exchange rate of 70.62 US cents per Australian dollar.

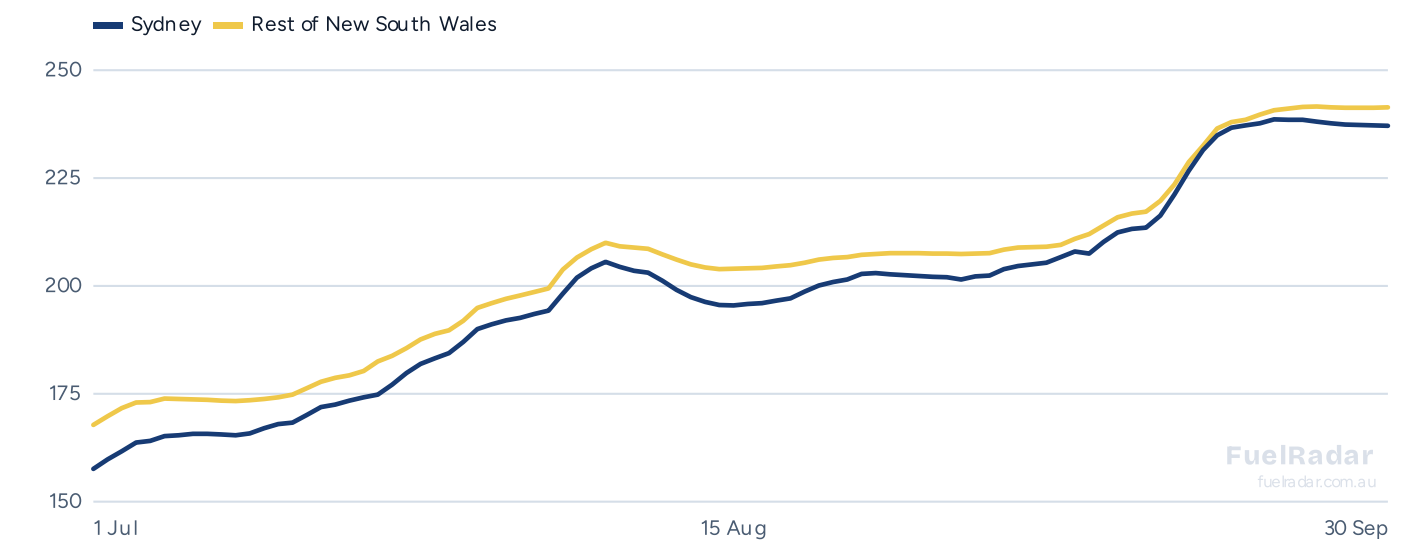

Retail: FuelRadar daily averages for Sydney, from 13 April 2026 when our records begin. Terminal gate prices (dashed): AIP, Sydney terminal, weekdays. Brent crude: US EIA spot price via FRED, converted at each day's exchange rate and 158.987 litres a barrel.

US cents per Australian dollar, the Federal Reserve's noon buying rate in New York, via FRED.

The price cycle and excise

No regular price cycle ran in Sydney in the period, and prices instead followed wholesale costs. The sharp rises you saw at the bowser came with the terminal gate price and the excise change on 3 August 2026.

Sharp rises in Sydney's U91, not hikes	From	To	Rise	TGP change	Came with
1	19 July	29 July	+17.7	+17.3	Terminal gate price
2	30 July	6 August	+13.6	+14.5	Excise change, 3 August
3	9 September	19 September	+29.2	+20.7	Terminal gate price

How we count a price-cycle hike: Sydney's daily U91 average less the Sydney terminal gate price (the indicative margin) rises by at least 8.0 c/L within 5 days, the retail average rises as much, stations making up at least 25% of Sydney's raise their price by 5.0 c/L or more in a day, and the margin then eases back by half within 21 days. A rise within 3 days of an excise change, or one the terminal gate price explains, is not a hike. With no hike, no regular price cycle ran and prices followed wholesale costs.

Fuel excise

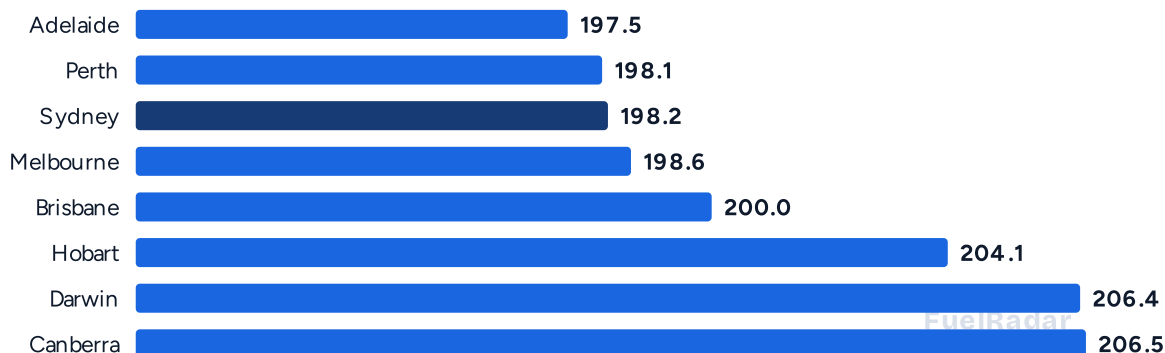

The fuel excise rose twice during the quarter, starting with a partial restoration to 36.6 c/L on 1 July 2026. The full rate was then restored and indexed to 53.7 c/L on 3 August 2026.

Petrol and diesel excise	Rate (c/L, before GST)	Change
In force on 1 July 2026	36.6
From 1 July 2026 (Partial restoration; still a temporarily reduced rate, 1 July to 2 August 2026)	36.6	+16.0
From 3 August 2026 (Full rate restored, indexed by the CPI factor of 1.020)	53.7	+17.1
Average over the days of 1 July to 30 September 2026	47.6

Excise is charged on fuel as it leaves the terminal, so it is already in the terminal gate price; GST is then charged on top.

The capital cities

Sydney was the third cheapest of the 8 capital cities for U91 and the third cheapest of the 8 capital cities for diesel. Adelaide was the cheapest capital for U91 at 197.5 c/L, while Canberra was the dearest at 206.5 c/L.

Areas are the ABS Statistical Areas Level 4 (SA4, 2021) inside Sydney's urban area, named in plain words ("Brisbane - East" is Brisbane East). An area counts its stations that reported on at least a quarter of the days; its average, station count and cheapest station all come from them, so the cheapest station never averages more than its area.

Regional towns

Appin and Williamtown were the cheapest towns for U91 at 189.8 c/L, while Baradine was the dearest at 227.2 c/L, creating a spread of 37.4 c/L. For diesel, Harden was the cheapest at 226.7 c/L and Tibooburra was the dearest at 266.1 c/L. We found 43 of the 228 towns ranked for U91 were cheaper than Sydney, and 26 of the 170 towns ranked for diesel averaged less than the capital.

A town is the ABS locality a station sits in; a station in a large regional city (marked “city”) counts in that city as one place. A town is ranked with at least 2 stations that reported on a quarter of the days and a price on 60% of the days. Its margin is against Sydney’s terminal gate price, so it includes the cost of carrying fuel to the town.

Regional centres

Cessnock (20,000 to 49,999 people) was the cheapest regional centre for U91 at 193.3 c/L, while Moama (20,000 to 49,999 people) was the dearest at 215.2 c/L. Across the state, 10 regional centres averaged less than the capital for U91.

Each day's average against the seven days centred on it, averaged by weekday, so a steady rise or fall over the period does not favour one end of the week. A place needs four of each weekday with prices from 5 stations or more; a month usually has too few, so it shows the year so far only.

A 60-litre tank, and the towns that moved most

Filling a 60-litre tank with U91 in Appin rather than in Baradine saved $22.44 on average. You saved $5.04 buying in Appin instead of Sydney, while filling up at BP Viaduct in Tamworth saved $16.08 against the state average.

Brent: Europe Brent spot price FOB (US Energy Information Administration). Exchange rate: the Federal Reserve's noon buying rate in New York. Both via FRED, Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis, averaged over the days each is published; the Australian-dollar figures use each day's rate. A litre is a barrel ÷ 158.987. We use these free benchmarks because the refined-petrol and diesel benchmarks Australian wholesale prices follow (Singapore) are sold by subscription.

Outlook

An estimate, not a guarantee. Our outlook describes the days after the period ended. Prices can move quickly; check the live price at the station before you fill.

We give our outlook only in the days after a period ends, when it still describes the days ahead. See today's forecast for your area in the FuelRadar app or at fuelradar.com.au/fuel-price-reports/nsw/2026-q3.

Data quality, method and sources

We analysed prices from 2,293 service stations across New South Wales, with our price records starting on 13 April 2026.

The station-day average

Each day, every service station counts once at its latest price as of the end of that day, in the state's own time. A price is carried forward for at most 30 days, and each average is taken over every station-day in the period. Prices held for checking, prices a station reported as unavailable and implausible prices are left out (we count U91 between 100.0 and 450.0 c/L).

Places

Sydney is its ABS urban area, split into ABS SA4 areas. Outside it, a town is the ABS locality a station sits in. A town or area counts its stations that report on at least a quarter of the days and is ranked with at least 2 of them and a price on 60% of the days.

Wholesale, margins and the cost of a litre

The terminal gate price is AIP's weekday price at the nearest terminal: the Sydney terminal. AIP publishes the capital-city terminals only. Weekday prices are carried over weekends, and a period's price is the mean of its calendar days. The margin is the retail average less the terminal gate price. Crude oil is the US Energy Information Administration Brent spot price (FRED series DCOILBRENT EU), converted to Australian cents a litre at each day's exchange rate (FRED series DEXUSAL) and 158.987 litres a barrel, then averaged over the days both are published. In the cost of a litre, wholesale is the terminal gate price without GST and excise less crude oil, excise is the ATO rate averaged over the days, GST is one eleventh of the retail price, and the retail difference is the rest. Last year's average is the previous calendar year. Until we have a full calendar year of retail prices it shows the wholesale side only: the terminal gate price, crude oil and excise. Its GST, retail difference and margin need a retail price, so they are left out.
